

Have you ever taken a trip and been away from everything familiar?

The climate, the clothes, the food, the driving, the language, the smells, the sounds—everything is different.

Then you find a little something that is just like home, and you have a little peace in the midst of the “differentness”.

When our family gets a box, it is filled with that peace! You can't see the peace on the parcel content list, but it is there. The customs officials never find it and take it out. There is never duty charged on the peace.

No matter what else is inside the box, where it is from, or who sent it, peace is always there...in the form of a candy bar, a toy, a scented candle. There is the knowledge that someone is praying, thinking of us, and we are not alone.

Thank you, LINKS, for your love and your boxes full of peace!
