INTRODUCING

New Beacon Bible Commentary
A Commentary in the Wesleyan Tradition

www.beaconhillbooks.com
Perhaps Mark Twain said it best when he quipped: “Let’s make a special effort to stop communicating with each other, so we can have some conversation.”

The differences between male and female communication have complicated relationships as far back as Adam and Eve. These days, advice for overcoming these differences line bookshelves, fill magazines, and dominate talk shows. But while these suggestions may explain what planet your spouse is from or help you spice things up and spend more time together, they neglect to address the real problem: how to create intimacy that extends to all aspects of your life together.

In Couple Conversation, marriage and family therapist Ted Chaffee shows couples how to create a sensuous, smart, and deeply intimate relationship by building on the four dimensions of the human experience: body, mind, soul, and spirit. With informal explanations, an array of illustrations, and splashes of humor, Chaffee explores each dimension’s purpose and helps couples discover new ways to use conversation to confidently develop intimacy in every aspect of their relationship.

THE AUTHOR

THEODORE CHAFFEE is a marriage and family therapist and also serves as the Marriage and Family Resource Minister for the American Baptist Churches of Maine. He is a member of The American Association for Marital and Family Therapy, The International Listening Association, and has been appointed by two Maine governors to serve on the state’s licensure board. He received an MDiv from Trinity Evangelical Divinity School and an MA in marriage and family therapy from Syracuse University. He lives on the coast of Maine with his wife and family.
Serving others is a key part of the Christian life. Time and again Christ demonstrated the importance of putting others first and giving what we can to help the less fortunate. As adults, we recognize the importance of instilling these values in our children and youth, but simply telling them to love their neighbor isn’t enough; to leave a lasting impression, they need to see and experience love in action.

77 Ways Your Family Can Make a Difference is an easy-to-use resource that helps parents cultivate compassion in their children and engage their family in acts of service. Filled with suggestions, activities, Bible verses, and topics for discussion, this re-usable manual inspires families to look for ways to make the world a better place by making a difference in the lives of others.

SELLING POINTS

Each service idea can be adapted to fit the personality of any household.

Suggestions encourage entire families—parents, children, grandparents—to spend time together while practicing biblical servanthood.

These activities and ideas can also be used with youth groups, Sunday School classes, home school curriculums, and community-group projects.
Our world is changing. Systems and methods that have been in place for centuries are being replaced or rebuilt; culture is being redefined; and questions of faith, morality, tolerance, and belief are causing discontent, uncertainty, and distraction both in and out of the church.

In this uncertain time of generational shifts and sociological change, is there still a system of objective thought? Do we still have a moral compass to rely on—one that accommodates change without compromising truth?

Dismantling the Myths rises above the confusion of our time and dispenses the darkness with a rational light of verifiable truth. Providing a sane interpretation of current trends in contemporary thought, Frank Moore offers readers in-depth understanding and sound answers to the difficult questions of ethics, morality, and faith. In a world searching for identity and coherence, this book provides a positive and proven handbook of standards and procedures that are relevant, reliable, and founded on God’s Word.

FRANK MOORE currently serves as professor of theology and director of the Center for Faith and Culture Studies at Olivet Nazarene University. Prior service includes 23 years as professor and administrator at MidAmerica Nazarene University. Moore received an MA and a PhD, both in religion, at Vanderbilt University. In our world, stories matter. Methods and systems are beneficial because they provide structure and keep us on the right road; but the motivation and courage to keep walking the road, come from the stories we hear and see and experience—stories that inspire hope and bring us face-to-face with God.

Preaching the Story That Shapes Us is more than a textbook on preaching. It’s an empowering call for preachers to present a picture of the kingdom of God already at work among us, recognizing that the work of preaching is not just about arranging words—it’s about people. With elegant prose and crafted reason, Dan Boone weaves together scripture, personal narrative, structure, and theological reflection to provide a satisfying, efficient guide to narrative preaching. From exploring the importance of biography to walking readers through creative processes that shape the sermon, Boone shows how to awaken the lives of your listeners by sharing the stories of God that reveal who we are and lead us to who we will be.

Leading others in worship is a rewarding ministry; but sometimes the work of leading worship—choosing music, coordinating rehearsals, ordering services—can overshadow (or even take the place of) a personal time of worship and communion with God. And yet, spending quiet time with God is a vital part of ministry. Before authentic worship can flow into others, it needs to be purified and enriched in the waters of God's truth.

Quiet Moments for Worship Leaders is a collection of daily meditations and devotionals that invite worship leaders, pastors, and musicians to step away from the noise and stress of their day to spend a few moments in the quietness of God's worship and the confidence of His Word. Using the ageless writings of the Book of Psalms, Marty Parks explores the honest words of David, Asaph, and others; and shares how their passion for worship, their love of God's word, and even their colossal failures, offer comfort and inspire us to infuse our lives with the strength and truth of His Word.
No one wants to think about planning a funeral; and the logistics of burial costs, memorial options, and writing a eulogy are the last things on your mind when a loved one has died. It includes information on burial and cremation costs; buyer advice and what to avoid; ideas for celebrating the life of your loved one; ways to support others who are grieving; and more.

It includes a variety of useful forms for pastors and assistants to use as they work together to create a successful team.
